FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of JULY 25, 1876.

AT the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 21st day of July, 1876.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament made and passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the thirty-third and thirty-fourth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for amending the Law relating to the Extradition of Criminals," and also by an Act of Parliament made and passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh years of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to amend the Extradition Act, 1870," it was amongst other things enacted, that where an arrangement has been made with any foreign State with respect to the surrender to such State of any fugitive criminals, Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that the said Acts shall apply in the case of such foreign State; and that Her Majesty may, by the same or any subsequent Order, limit the operation of the Order, and restrict the same to fugitive criminals who are in or suspected of being in the part of Her Majesty's dominions specified in the Order, and render the operation thereof subject to such conditions, exceptions, and qualifications as may be deemed expedient :

And whereas a Treaty was concluded on the twentieth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, between Her Majesty and the King of the Belgians, for the Mutual Extradition of Fugitive Criminals, which Treaty is in the terms following :—

HER Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the King of the Belgians, having judged it expedient, with a view to the more complete prevention of crime within their respective territories, that persons charged with or convicted of the crimes hereinafter enumerated, and being fugitives from the justice of their country, should, under certain circumstances, be reciprocally delivered up ; Their said Majesties have named as their Plenipotentiaries to conclude a Treaty for this purpose, that is to say :—

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, John Savile Lumley, Esquire, Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Her Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to His Majesty the King of the Belgians ;

And His Majesty the King of the Belgians, the Count d'Aspremont-Lynden, Officer of His Order of Leopold, Commander of the Order of the Ernestine Branch of the House of Saxony, Grand Cross of the Orders of Leopold of Austria, of the Legion of Honour, of the Lion of the Netherlands and of the White Eagle of Russia, &c., &c., Member of the Senate, His Minister of Foreign Affairs ;

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following Articles :—

ARTICLE I.

It is agreed that Her Britannic Majesty and

His Majesty the King of the Belgians, shall, on requisition made in their name by their respective Diplomatic Agents, deliver up to each other reciprocally, any persons, except as regards Great Britain, native born and naturalized subjects of Her Britannic Majesty, and, except as regards Belgium, those who are by birth or who may have become citizens of Belgium, who, being accused or convicted as principals or accessories, of any of the crimes hereinafter specified, committed within the territories of the requiring party, shall be found within the territories of the other party :

1. Murder (including assassination, parricide, infanticide, and poisoning), or attempt to murder.

2. Manslaughter.

3. Counterfeiting or altering money, or uttering counterfeit or altered money.

4. Forgery, counterfeiting, or altering or uttering what is forged or counterfeited or altered.

5. Embezzlement or larceny.

6. Obtaining money or goods by false pretences.

7. Crimes by bankrupts against bankruptcy law.

8. Fraud by a bailee, banker, agent, factor, trustee, or director, or member or public officer of any company, made criminal by any law for the time being in force.

9. Rape : Carnal knowledge of a girl under the age of ten years ; carnal knowledge of a girl above the age of ten years and under the age of twelve years : indecent assault upon any female or any attempt to have carnal knowledge of a girl under twelve years of age.

10. Abduction.

11. Child stealing.

12. Kidnapping.

13. Burglary or housebreaking.

14. Arson.

15. Robbery with violence (including intimidation).

16. Threats by letter or otherwise with intent to extort.

17. Piracy by law of nations.

18. Sinking or destroying a vessel at sea, or attempting or conspiring to do so.

19. Assaults on board a ship on the high seas with intent to destroy life or to do grievous bodily harm.

20. Revolt or conspiracy to revolt by two or more persons on board a ship on the high seas against the authority of the master.

21. Perjury and subornation of perjury.

22. Malicious injury to property, if the offence be indictable.

23. Aggravated or indecent assault.

Provided that the surrender shall be made only when in the case of a person accused, the commission of the crime shall be so established as that the laws of the country where the fugitive or person accused shall be found would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had been there committed ; and in the case of a person alleged to have been convicted, on such evidence as, according to the laws of the country where he is found, would prove that he had been convicted.

In no case can the surrender be made unless the crime shall be punishable according to the laws in force in both countries with regard to extradition.

ARTICLE II.

In the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty, other than the Colonies or foreign possessions of Her Majesty, the manner of proceeding shall be as follows :—

I. In the case of a person accused—

The requisition for the surrender shall be made to Her Britannic Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs by the Minister or other Diplomatic Agent of His Majesty the King of the Belgians, accompanied by a warrant of arrest or other equivalent judicial document, issued by a Judge or Magistrate duly authorized to take cognizance of the acts charged against the accused in Belgium, together with duly authenticated depositions or statements taken on oath or upon solemn affirmation before such Judge or Magistrate, clearly setting forth the said acts, and containing a description of the person claimed, and any particulars which may serve to identify him. The said Secretary of State shall transmit such documents to Her Britannic Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, who shall then, by order under his hand and seal, signify to some Police Magistrate in London that such requisition has been made, and require him, if there be due cause, to issue his warrant for the apprehension of the fugitive.

On the receipt of such order from the Secretary of State, and on the production of such evidence as would, in the opinion of the magistrate, justify the issue of the warrant if the crime had been committed in the United Kingdom, he shall issue his warrant accordingly.

When the fugitive shall have been apprehended he shall be brought before the Police Magistrate who issued the warrant, or some other Police Magistrate in London. If the evidence to be then produced shall be such as to justify, according to the law of England, the committal for trial of the prisoner, if the crime of which he is accused had been committed in England, the Police Magistrate shall commit him to prison to await the warrant of the Secretary of State for his surrender, sending immediately to the Secretary of State a certificate of the committal and a report upon the case.

After the expiration of a period from the committal of the prisoner, which shall never be less than fifteen days, the Secretary of State shall, by order under his hand and seal, order the fugitive criminal to be surrendered to such person as may be duly authorized to receive him on the part of the Government of His Majesty the King of the Belgians.

II. In the case of a person convicted—

The course of proceeding shall be the same as in the case of a person accused, except that the warrant to be transmitted by the Minister or other Diplomatic Agent in support of his requisition shall clearly set forth the crime of which the person claimed has been convicted, and state the fact, place, and date of his conviction. The evidence to be produced before the Police Magistrate shall be such as would, according to the law of England, prove that the prisoner was convicted of the crime charged.

After the Police Magistrate shall have committed the accused or convicted person to prison to await the order of a Secretary of State for his surrender, such person shall have the right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus; if he should so apply, his surrender must be deferred until after the decision of the Court upon the return to the writ, and even then can only take place if the decision is adverse to the applicant.

ARTICLE III.

In the dominions of His Majesty the King of the Belgians, other than the Colonies or Foreign Possessions of His said Majesty, the manner of proceeding shall be as follows :—

I. In the case of a person accused—

The requisition for the surrender shall be made to the Minister for Foreign Affairs of His Majesty the King of the Belgians by the Minister or other Diplomatic Agent of Her Britannic Majesty, accompanied by a warrant of arrest or other equivalent judicial document issued by a Judge or Magistrate duly authorized to take cognizance of the acts charged against the accused in Great Britain, together with duly authenticated depositions or statements taken on oath or upon solemn affirmation before such Judge or Magistrate, clearly setting forth the said acts and containing a description of the person claimed, and any other particulars which may serve to identify him.

The Minister for Foreign Affairs shall transmit the warrant of arrest, with the documents thereto annexed, to the Minister of Justice, who shall forward the same to the proper judicial authority, in order that the warrant of arrest may be put in course of execution by the Chamber of the Council (Chambre du Conseil) of the Court of First Instance of the place of residence of the accused, or of the place where he may be found.

The foreigner may claim to be provisionally set at liberty in any case in which a Belgian enjoys that right, and under the same conditions. The application shall be submitted to the Chamber of the Council (Chambre du Conseil).

The Government will take the opinion of the Chamber of Indictments or Investigation (Chambre des Mises en Accusation) of the Court of Appeal, within whose jurisdiction the foreigner shall have been arrested.

The hearing of the case shall be public, unless the foreigner should demand that it should be with closed doors.

The public authorities and the foreigner shall be heard. The latter may obtain the assistance of Counsel.

Within a fortnight from the receipt of the documents, they shall be returned, with a reasoned opinion, to the Minister of Justice, who shall decide and may order that the accused be delivered to the person duly authorized on the part of the Government of Her Britannic Majesty.

II. In case of a person convicted—

The course of proceeding shall be the same as in the case of a person accused, except that the conviction or sentence of condemnation issued in original or in an authenticated copy, to be transmitted by the Minister or other Diplomatic Agent in support of his requisition, shall clearly set forth the crime of which the person claimed has been convicted, and state the fact, place, and date of his conviction. The evidence to be produced shall be such as would, according to the Belgian laws, prove that the prisoner was convicted of the crime charged.

ARTICLE IV.

A fugitive criminal may, however, be apprehended under a warrant issued by any Police Magistrate, Justice of the Peace, or other competent authority in either country, on such information or complaint, and such evidence, or after such proceedings as would, in the opinion of the person issuing the warrant, justify the issue of a warrant, if the crime had been committed or the prisoner convicted in that part of the dominions of the two Contracting Parties in which he exercises jurisdiction: Provided, however, that, in the United Kingdom, the accused shall, in such case, be sent as speedily as possibly before a Police Magistrate in London. He shall be discharged, as well in the United Kingdom as in Belgium, if within fourteen days a requisition shall not have been made for his surrender by the Diplomatic Agent of his country, in the manner directed by Articles II and III of this Treaty.

The same rule shall apply to the cases of persons accused or convicted of any of the crimes specified in this Treaty, committed on the high seas on board any vessel of either country which may come into a port of the other.

ARTICLE V.

If the fugitive criminal who has been committed to prison be not surrendered and conveyed away within two months after such committal (or within two months after the decision of the Court upon the return to a writ of habeas corpus in the United Kingdom), he shall be discharged from custody, unless sufficient cause be shown to the contrary.

ARTICLE VI.

When any person shall have been surrendered by either of the High Contracting Parties to the other, such person shall not, until he has been restored or had an opportunity of returning to the country from whence he was surrendered, be triable or tried for any offence committed in the other country prior to the surrender, other than the particular offence on account of which he was surrendered.

ARTICLE VII.

No accused or convicted person shall be surrendered, if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded shall be deemed by the party upon which it is made to be a political offence, or to be an act connected with (connexe à) such an offence, or if he prove, to the satisfaction of the Police Magistrate, or of the Court before which he is brought on habeas corpus, or to the Secretary of State, that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or to punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VIII.

Warrants, depositions, or statements on oath, issued or taken in the dominions of either of the two High Contracting Parties, and copies thereof, and certificates of or judicial documents stating the fact of conviction, shall be received in evidence in proceedings in the dominions of the other, if purporting to be signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the county where they were issued or taken.

Provided such warrants, depositions, statements, copies, certificates, and judicial documents are authenticated by the oath or solemn affirmation of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE IX.

The surrender shall not take place if, since the commission of the acts charged, the accusation, or the conviction, exemption from prosecution or punishment has been acquired by lapse of time, according to the laws of the country where the accused shall have taken refuge.

ARTICLE X.

If the individual claimed by one of the two High Contracting Parties in pursuance of the present Treaty should be also claimed by one or several other Powers, on account of other crimes committed upon their respective territories, his surrender shall be granted to that State whose demand is earliest in date ; unless any other arrangement should be made between the Governments which have claimed him, either on account of the gravity of the crimes committed or for any other reasons.

ARTICLE XI.

If the individual claimed should be under prosecution, or condemned by the Courts of the country where he has taken refuge, his surrender may be deferred until he shall have been set at liberty in due course of law.

In case he should be proceeded against or detained in such country, on account of obligations contracted towards private individuals, his surrender shall nevertheless take place, the injured party retaining his right to prosecute his claims before the competent authority.

ARTICLE XII.

Every article found in the possession of the individual claimed at the time of his arrest shall, if the competent authority so decide, be seized, in order to be delivered up with his person at the time when the surrender shall be made. Such delivery shall not be limited to the property or articles obtained by stealing or by fraudulent bankruptcy, but shall extend to every thing that may serve as proof of the crime. It shall take place even when the surrender, after having been ordered, shall be prevented from taking place by reason of the escape or death of the individual claimed.

The rights of third parties with regard to the said property or articles are nevertheless reserved.

ARTICLE XIII.

Each of the High Contracting Parties shall defray the expenses occasioned by the arrest within its territories, the detention, and the conveyance to its frontier, of the persons whom it may consent to surrender in pursuance of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XIV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign Possessions of the two High Contracting Parties.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in a Colony or foreign Possession of either Party, shall be made to the Governor or Chief Authority of such Colony or Possession by the Chief Consular Officer of the other in such Colony or Possession ; or, if the fugitive has escaped from a Colony or foreign Possession of the Party on whose behalf the requisition is made, by the Governor or Chief Authority of such Colony or Possession.

Such requisition may be disposed of, subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty, by the respective Governors or Chief Authorities, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender, or to refer the matter to their Government.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign Possessions for the surrender of Belgian criminals who may there take refuge, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XV.

The present Treaty shall come into operation ten days after its publication in conformity with the laws of the respective countries.

After the Treaty shall so have been brought into operation, the Treaty concluded between the High Contracting Parties on the 31st July, 1872, shall be considered as cancelled, except as to any proceeding that may have already been taken or commenced in virtue thereof.

Either party may at any time terminate the Treaty on giving to the other six months' notice of its intention.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Brussels as soon as may be within six weeks from the date of signature.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seals of their arms.

Done at Brussels, the twentieth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

(L.S.) J. SAVILE LUMLEY.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at Brussels on the twenty-eighth day of June last :

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the fourth day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the said Treaty with the King of the Belgians.

“ The European Commission of the Danube having on the 9th of May, 1876, officially adopted the Danubian system of tonnage measurement recommended by the International Commission of Constantinople of 1873, and put in practice for the passage of the Suez Canal, which decision is to take effect from the 1st of October, 1876, it is strongly recommended that English vessels trading to the Danube should be provided with 'Suez Canal Special Tonnage Certificates,' in order to avoid the delays to which they may be subjected by re-measurement at Sulina.

"This regulation does not, however, affect that of the 10th November, 1875, which prescribes that in case measurement has not been claimed by the captain of the vessel, nor enjoined by the Navigation Cash Office, vessels not provided with the above-mentioned certificates shall pay an additional tax of 11 per cent."

FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of AUGUST 18, 1876.

Her Majesty's Most Gracious Speech, delivered by the Lords Commissioners to both Houses of Parliament, on Tuesday, August 15, 1876.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I AM happy to be able to release you from your attendance in Parliament.

My relations with all Foreign Powers are of a friendly character, and I look forward confidently to the maintenance of the good understanding which now prevails.

The efforts which, in common with other Powers, I have made to bring about a settlement of the differences unfortunately existing between the Porte and its Christian subjects in Bosnia and Herzegovina have hitherto been unsuccessful, and the conflict begun in those Provinces has been extended to Servia and Montenegro. Should a favourable opportunity present itself, I shall be ready, in concert with my allies, to offer my good offices for the purpose of mediation between the contending parties, bearing in mind alike the duties imposed upon me by treaty obligations and those which arise from considerations of humanity and policy.

A difference has arisen between my Government and that of the United States, as to the proper construction of that article of the Treaty of 9th August, 1842, which relates to the mutual surrender of persons accused of certain offences. The inconveniences to both countries which would follow on a cessation of the practice of extradition are great and obvious, and I entertain the hope that a new arrangement may soon be arrived at, by which this matter may be placed on a satisfactory footing.

I am deeply thankful that my dear son, the Prince of Wales, has returned in good health from his lengthened journey through India. His presence in that part of my dominions has given occasion for the expression of feelings of loyalty and devotion to my throne which I highly value.

In pursuance of the power conferred upon me. I have, by proclamation, assumed the title of Empress of India. In making, as regards India, this addition to the ancient style of my Crown, I have desired to record, on an occasion of peculiar interest to me, the earnest solicitude which I feel for the happiness of my Indian people.

I trust that peace and order are re-established in the Malay Peninsula, and that the rulers of the native states will cheerfully accept the recommendations and assistance of my officers for the better government of their territories.

The visit to this country of the President of the Orange Free State has resulted in a satisfactory settlement of the long controversy which has existed with reference to the Province of Griqualand, and an important advance has thus been made towards that friendly and cordial co-operation of neighbouring States which is essential to the interests of South Africa.

The conference on South African affairs, with regard to which papers have already been laid before you, is now sitting in London, and cannot fail to contribute largely to the settlement of various important questions.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the liberal supplies which you have voted for the public service.

The additional outlay required to place my army and navy upon a proper footing of efficiency, and the check which has been given to the advance of the revenue by the comparative stagnation of trade, have compelled me to propose to you an increase of taxation. I desire to acknowledge the readiness with which you have responded to that appeal, and at the same time to assure you that no effort shall be wanting to keep the expenditure of the country within the bounds of moderation.

I notice with satisfaction the increasing attention paid by you to the question of local finance, and your greater watchfulness over the cost of services which are every year becoming more important, and the consideration of which ought not to be dis severed from that of imperial expenditure.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The Act which you have passed for the amendment of the Laws relating to Merchant Shipping will, I trust, promote the safety of our ships and seamen, without imposing unnecessary restrictions upon the conduct of a service in the prosperity of which our national interests are in so many ways involved.

The measure for making further provision respecting the Elementary Education of the country is one of great importance, and will complete the work on which successive Parliaments have for many years been engaged, by securing a due attendance at school of the children for whose benefit the means and the machinery of education have been so largely supplied.

I have readily given my assent to a Bill for facilitating the Regulation and Improvement of Commons, and for making such amendments in the Inclosure Acts as will, I hope, tend to the preservation of open spaces in the neighbourhood of large towns, and to the increase of the health and comfort of my people.

The serious evils arising from the Pollution of Rivers have long been the subject of public complaint, and I rejoice that you have passed a measure which, by checking those evils, will improve the sanitary condition of the country.

I have observed with much satisfaction the arrangements which you have made for maintaining and increasing the efficiency of the Tribunal of Ultimate Appeal for the United Kingdom, by which, at the same time, the Judicial Committee of my Privy Council and my intermediate Court of Appeal will be improved and strengthened.

I anticipate the best results from the Act which you have passed providing safeguards against painful experiments upon Living Animals.

I regret that pressure of other business has prevented the completion of your labours upon several measures of much importance. Among these I specially notice the Bills relating to the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, to the Administration of Prisons, and to the Law affecting Maritime Contracts. I trust, however, that the attention which you have given to these questions in the past session may facilitate their settlement in the next.

In bidding you farewell, I pray that the blessing of Providence may rest on your recent labours, and accompany you in the discharge of all your duties.

EXTRACT from Mr. Middleton's Despatch, dated Carácas, July 15, 1876, to the Earl of Derby.

By a resolution of the Minister of Finance, which I have the honour to inclose in copy and translation, the Venezuelan Government is empowered to continue to have national silver money coined in Europe (as has been lately done to a small extent), until the amount of such national silver money shall be sufficient to meet the exigencies of the country, and thus to admit of foreign silver money being declared to be no longer of legal tender, but as it is judged to be inexpedient that beforehand large importations of the latter should be made, the President of the Republic has ordered that from the date of the resolution referred to, all importations whatever of it are prohibited, and are to be considered fraudulent if attempted to be made subsequently to the periods of time accorded to foreign countries by the following table :—

	Days
For money coming from Europe ...	60

COPY of the Protocol signed on the 9th of August, 1876, by the Delegates of the four Powers represented at the Conference held at Paris on the question of the Sugar Duties.

Protocole de Clôture.

LES Commissaires soussignés, délégués par les Gouvernements de la Grande-Bretagne, de la Belgique, de la France, et des Pays-Bas, se sont réunis à Paris, le 17 Juillet, 1876, sous la présidence de M. Teisserenc de Bort, Ministre de l'Agriculture et du Commerce, afin d'étudier les bases d'une nouvelle Convention sur le régime des sucres.

2. La première question examinée dans la Conférence a été celle de savoir si l'on pouvait, comme le demandaient les Délégués de l'Angleterre et de la Belgique, faire revivre la Convention du 11 Août, 1875, en réservant à chacun des Etats cosignataires la faculté de supprimer l'impôt des sucres.

3. A cet égard, les Délégués de la Hollande ont déclaré que l'exercice des raffineries, à moins d'être tempéré par des dispositions spéciales, soulèverait probablement dans leur pays l'opposition qu'il avait déjà rencontrée en 1875. Ils ont exposé, en outre, que les compensations offertes par la Belgique n'avaient point paru suffisantes, que tel était l'un des motifs du vote de la Seconde Chambre des Etats-Généraux, et qu'il faudrait s'attendre à un nouvel échec si la Belgique n'accordait pas des garanties complémentaires contre les bénéfices de rendement que ses fabricants de sucre sont supposés obtenir par la législation actuelle. Les Délégués Français, de leur côté, tout en se montrant disposés à accepter l'obligation de l'exercice si l'on ne s'entendait pas sur des bases plus conformes à la liberté de l'industrie, n'ont pu admettre que cette obligation fût imposée, sans compensation d'aucune sorte, aux seules raffineries de leurs nationaux.

4. La suppression même de l'impôt ne leur a point paru un juste équivalent des charges de l'exercice. Ils ont, d'ailleurs, appuyé les observations de la Hollande relativement à la législation Belge, et ils ont demandé quelles étaient les mesures que l'Angleterre pourrait être disposée à prendre, au sujet des sucres bruts primés à l'exportation par les Etats qui resteraient en dehors de la Confédération sucrière, principalement par l'Autriche-Hongrie. Les Délégués de la Belgique ont alors expliqué que leur Gouvernement avait fait, dans l'Acte du 11 Août, 1875, de trop larges concessions pour pouvoir y rien ajouter. Dans leur pensée, ces concessions présentaient, pour la suppression des bénéfices de rendement, des sûretés au moins aussi complètes que l'exercice le plus rigoureux. Les Délégués Anglais, à leur tour, n'ont pas contesté qu'il ne pût sembler juste de tenir compte de tous les moyens qui ont pour but la suppression des primes : mais, à leur avis, l'examen des dispositions restrictives qu'il pourrait y avoir lieu de prendre à l'importation des sucres primés provenant des pays avec lesquels on n'aurait pas traité n'aurait pas dû entrer dans le programme de la Conférence. Ils ont ajouté que des dispositions de cette nature n'auraient aucune chance d'être acceptées par le Gouvernement de la Reine.

5. Des divergences aussi tranchées ne permettant pas de faire revivre la Convention de 1875, on a recherché s'il serait possible de se rapprocher sur le terrain de la saccharimétrie. L'application de ce système en France a donné lieu à un travail très-complet adressé au Ministre de l'Agriculture et du Commerce par des chimistes dont la haute compétence ne saurait être mise en doute. Ce travail a été distribué à tous les membres de la Conférence, qui en ont apprécié le mérite et l'impartialité ; néanmoins, les Commissaires Anglais ont élevé contre le système de la saccharimétrie des objections fondées à la fois sur les difficultés inhérentes au prélèvement des échantillons et sur l'incertitude des coefficients applicables au glucose et aux sels.

6. Pour s'éclairer à ce sujet, la Conférence a fait appeler dans son sein les auteurs du travail qui lui avait été soumis ; MM. Aimé Girard et de Luynes, Professeurs au Conservatoire des Arts et Métiers ; M. Riche, Professeur à l'Ecole de Pharmacie et Directeur du Comité des Expertises au Ministère du Commerce ; M. Bardy, Directeur du Laboratoire Central des Contributions Indirectes. A leur avis, le prélèvement des échantillons, indispensable dans tous les systèmes d'impôt, ne présente aucune difficulté particulière à la saccharimétrie, parce que les sels qu'on parviendrait à ajouter au sucre en déjouant la surveillance du service, n'échapperaient pas aux investigations des laboratoires. Ils ont spontanément admis qu'on n'était pas encore bien fixé sur le chiffre des coefficients nécessaires pour le glucose et pour les cendres. Mais, dans leur pensée, les écarts à prévoir, sensibles peut-être pour la science, qui ne se contente pas d'à-peu-près, étaient sans importance réelle pour la perception d'un impôt. Malgré ces éclaircissements, les Délégués Anglais ont maintenu leurs objections. Les Délégués Hollandais ont également manifesté des appréhensions sur les résultats des pratiques saccharimétriques ; et les Délégués Belges se sont bornés à exprimer quelques doutes sur la quotité du coefficient affecté au glucose. La Conférence s'est ainsi trouvée conduite à juger que les esprits n'étaient pas préparés à un accord commun sur cette base.

7. En ce moment, les Commissaires des Pays-Bas ont proposé un projet transactionnel. D'après ce projet, chacune des Parties Contractantes se serait obligée à supprimer l'impôt des sucres ou à le percevoir à la consommation suivant un mode combiné de manière à écarter les objections que l'exercice, proprement dit, avait suscitées dans les Pays-Bas. Une exception était faite pour la Belgique. Les Délégués Néerlandais, reconnaissant que l'impôt à la consommation pourrait y présenter des difficultés sérieuses, ont cru devoir se borner à demander à cet état l'engagement d'abolir toute protection à l'intérieur et toute bénéfice sur le drawback. Mais, pour les Délégués Français, la proposition de la Hollande n'offrait pas un terrain sur lequel l'accord pût s'établir. En effet, d'une part, la situation financière de la France ne permet pas de prévoir la possibilité de supprimer l'impôt sur les sucres ; d'autre part, si le système de l'impôt à la consommation, tel qu'il a été présenté en dernier lieu par les Délégués Hollandais, laissait une espérance d'accord, en se rapprochant de l'exercice, il n'en présentait pas toutes les garanties ; d'un autre côté, les Délégués Français entendaient réserver à leur Gouvernement toute sa liberté d'action, pour le cas où les Pays-Bas aboliraient l'impôt, et ils ne pouvaient se dissimuler que la situation présentait cette difficulté que la Grande Bretagne ne semblait pas disposée à prendre les mesures nécessaires pour repousser de ses marchés les sucres bruts qui arrivent de pays où il existe de primes ; mais les Délégués Anglais estimaient que le défaut d'entente ne saurait se produire sur le terrain des surtaxes, attendu que, dans leur pensée, cette question aurait dû, comme ils l'avaient déjà dit, rester en dehors des délibérations de la Conférence. Enfin, les Délégués Belges ne pouvaient, de leur côté, accepter que conditionnellement la combinaison de leurs collègues des Pays-Bas.

8. Écartant pour la Belgique l'exercice des raffineries et même celui des fabriques, ils auraient admis pour la Hollande, tout en ne dissimulant pas qu'il leur paraissait incomplet, le système qu'on proposait en son nom, si la France l'avait trouvé suffisamment efficace. Mais ils repoussaient péremptoirement pour leur pays l'engagement qu'on voulait lui imposer, s'il devait l'obliger à fortifier par des dispositions complémentaires les garanties auxquelles il avait souscrit dans la Convention de 1875.

9. Dans l'état, les Délégués Belges ont présenté, à leur tour, un projet d'arrangement basé sur le double élément de la saccharimétrie et des types.

En consacrant pour chacun des pays co-signataires la faculté de supprimer l'impôt des sucreries, ce projet stipulait qu'en devait, là où les droits seraient maintenus, classer les sucreries au moyen de la saccharimétrie, si les droits étaient de plus de 22 fr. 50 c. par quintal métrique de sucre à 88 pour cent de rendement, ou d'après cinq types de nuances pris dans la série Hollandaise, aux rendements de 72, 82, 88, 94, et 98 pour cent, si la quotité des droits était fixée à 22 fr. 50 c. ou au-dessous. La proposition Belge, complétée par différentes dispositions empruntées en partie aux Conventions de 1864 et 1875, a donné lieu à diverses objections. Les Délégués Anglais n'ont pas cru pouvoir l'appuyer, parceque, dans leur pensée, elle reposait sur un système de saccharimétrie qu'ils avaient déjà écarté. Pour les Délégués Hollandais, la combinaison Belge avait l'inconvénient radical de laisser encore la porte ouverte à des bénéfices de rendement plus ou moins élevés. Enfin, les Délégués Français ne voyaient pas, dans les obligations acceptées par la Belgique, l'équivalent de ce qu'aurait concédé la France, et ils n'y trouvaient aucune précaution contre la concurrence inégale des sucreries brutes primées dont il a déjà été parlé.

10. Parvenus à ce point de leurs travaux les Commissaires soussignés ont unanimement résolu de se séparer pour rendre compte de la situation à leurs Gouvernements respectifs, et pour les prier d'examiner s'il ne conviendrait pas, comme l'ont demandé dès le principe, les Délégués de la Hollande, d'appeler à des Conférences ultérieures divers Etats restés étrangers à la Convention de 1864, notamment l'Allemagne, l'Autriche-Hongrie, l'Italie, pour tâcher d'écarter ainsi certaines inégalités qui ont pesé sur les dernières délibérations, et de préparer des concessions réciproques que rendraît peut-être plus faciles la perspective d'un marché international fort agrandi.

11. Il a été entendu qu'en tout cas, et sauf approbation ultérieure de leurs Gouvernements respectifs, les Délégués des quatre Puissances représentées dans la présente Conférence se réuniraient de nouveau à Paris, au plus tard le 5 Décembre prochain.

Board of Trade, 1, Whitehall, October 30, 1876.

THE Board of Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs the following translation of the Amended Spanish Customs Regulations concerning tobacco in transit :—

Appendix No. 20 of the Customs Ordinances.

ART. VI. The transit of tobacco of all classes coming from abroad and from the Spanish Colonial Provinces and destined for foreign ports, shall solely be permitted under the following conditions :—

1st. That it be carried in steamers, without restriction as to flag.

2nd. That they must measure at least 300 tons.

3rd. That the masters shall have the packages of tobacco inserted in their manifests countersigned by the Spanish Consul at the port of lading, or by the Administrator of Customs in the Spanish Colonial Provinces.

4th. That therein shall be specified the number of packages, their description, marks, numeration, gross weight and class of the tobacco, name of the shipper and place of destination ; and bond shall be given at the first Custom-house touched at, to prove the landing of the same at the port of destination by a certificate from the Spanish Consul.

5th. That the bond shall be at the rate of 14 pesetas (11s. 8d.) for each kilogramme of tobacco, whatever may be the description and effective value thereof (5s. 3½d. per English pound.)

6th. That the port of her destination must not be that from which the ship comes, nor any one of those she may have touched at during the voyage.

7th. That on the outer coverings there shall be marked the gross weight of each package, which in no instance shall be less than 46 kilogrammes (101·42 English lbs.,) and the port of destination.

8th. That all the packages shall be placed in the ship's hold with the requisite separation, so that they can be easily examined by the Custom-house Officers at the ports of transit, in order to satisfy themselves of their existence on board.

9th. All tobacco which may be presented as in transit at a qualified port, in sailing vessels of any burthen whatsoever, or in steamers measuring less than 300 metrical tons, shall be confiscated, even though it may be found entered on the manifests ; and besides, a fine of from double to quadruple the amount of the tariff duty shall be exacted from the masters.

For failure to comply with the requirements prescribed by the 4th, 6th, 7th, and 8th conditions of this article, a fine of from 100 to 5000 pesetas (£4 3s. 4d. to £208 6s. 8d.) will be exacted from them. This penalty is not to exempt them from the obligation of presenting the packages for examination by the Custom-house, for, in default thereof, they shall be treated as defrauders.

For omitting to report the tobacco in transit, or for not having it inserted in the countersigned manifests, the shipmasters shall be visited with the penalties imposable under Article the 9th and the general legislation, as the case may be.

ART. IX. Tobacco of every description whatsoever shall be confiscated, and the master, consignee, or owner of the ship shall furthermore pay a fine of from one to four times the amount of the tariff duties, in the following cases :—

1st. When tobacco is found on board which has not been entered in the manifest and in the note of ship's stores.

2nd. When the extra quantity of tobacco belonging to the ship's stores has been re-embarked in accordance with the second paragraph of Article the 5th, and is not found to be on board at the time of the vessel's departure.

3rd. When tobacco manifested in transit is not to be found on board.

4th. When tobacco is seized on board of coasting, fishing, or other vessels moored in port.

5th. When tobacco seized in lighters on the water, or in any other place within the port, is proved to have come from a specific ship.

The duties which shall be exacted as a fine or penalty in these cases or in any other in which part of the penalty shall consist of the exaction of the duties, shall be fixed by applying the corresponding article of the tariff under this type.

1st. The specification to be made of the class of the tobacco.

2nd. In conformity with this classification the duty corresponding to a direct or indirect importation shall be applied, according to the place from whence the vessel came on board of which the seizure may have been effected.

ART. V. The master of a ship may carry for his consumption on board, 3 kilogrammes (6·61 English lbs.,) of any description of manufactured tobacco, and one kilogramme (2·2 lbs.,) for the use of each individual of his crew, which quantities should be included in the note or list of the ship's stores, according to Article 47 of the Ordinances, and shall be kept on board until the departure of the vessel. Upon the quantity which may then be found to be short, he shall pay the tariff duties.

If the master carries as much as 3 kilogrammes (or 6·61 English lbs.,) of tobacco per individual, reporting the same as extra stores, the whole shall be deposited in the Custom-house, to be returned to him at the time of his departure, against a receipt to be signed by the said master or his chief officer on board, upon which document the revenue guards must attest the fact of the re-shipment, in order to annex it to the respective manifest.

If the master carries manufactured tobacco in greater quantity than at the rate of 3 kilogrammes (6·61 English lbs.,) per individual, no matter under what head he may have reported it, a Custom-house entry must be passed for it, and the tariff duties must be paid thereon at the first port if qualified for this commerce, and if not, at the nearest one so qualified, unless it has been manifested in transit, fulfilling the requirements prescribed in the 127th Article of the Ordinances and the 6th of this Appendix.

If the master should touch at various Spanish ports, he is bound to present the tobacco in all of them, in order to have it compared with the certified store list furnished to him at the first port, and to pay the tariff duties upon the quantities which in each of them may be found deficient.

The following is a translation of Art. 127 of the Spanish Customs Ordinances referred to above :—

The transit of merchandise touching at Spanish ports without entering into Spanish territory, shall be permitted under the following conditions :—

1st. That the vessel carrying the transit goods shall measure at least one hundred and twenty metrical tons.

2nd. That the master shall report in his manifest the goods he carries in transit in the same form as those destined for immediate local discharge.

3rd. That the port to which the transit goods are bound, must not be the same one where they were shipped, nor any of those at which the vessel may have previously touched.

Goods of the class termed prohibited shall not be carried in transit.

Neither shall the transit of woven goods or clothes be permitted except in steamers which measure at least 300 metrical tons, and in sailing vessels, which, measuring the same tonnage, may arrive at Spanish ports to complete their loading bound to America or Asia. The master shall report in his manifest the packages of woven goods and clothes which he is conveying in transit, and if in the Custom-house of the last Spanish port at which he may touch, or within the fiscal maritime zone, it may be proved that any of the said packages are wanting, he shall suffer the penalties prescribed against defrauders.

FROM THE SUPPLEMENT

LONDON GAZETTE of NOVEMBER 10,
1876.

Foreign Office, November 10, 1876.

DESPATCH from the Earl of Derby to Lord Augustus Loftus, Her Majesty's Ambassador at St. Petersburg :—

MY LORD, Foreign Office, October 30, 1876.

THE time has arrived when it may be useful that I should place on consecutive record the various efforts which Her Majesty's Government have made for the preservation of peace in Eastern Europe, so that the position taken up by them during the recent negotiations may be accurately defined.

Her Majesty's Government, having reason to believe that the good offices of the Powers would be acceptable to Servia and Montenegro, informed Mr. White, Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Belgrade, on the 14th of August, that though they would not propose mediation unless it were asked for, he might suggest to Prince Milan that an application from him to the Powers for their good offices would be favourably received by England.

On the 24th of August a telegraphic despatch was received from Mr. White reporting that Prince Milan, in the presence of his Foreign Minister, had asked the Representatives of the Six Powers to transmit to their Governments his application for re-establishing peace between the Porte and Servia, and for a prompt cessation of hostilities with that view. His Highness added that it would be desirable to include Montenegro in the pacification.

Her Majesty's Government expressed their satisfaction at receiving this announcement, and lost no time in communicating it to the other Powers. They also instructed Sir H. Elliot to point out to the Porte the extreme importance of not losing this opportunity of restoring peace; since, if hostilities continued, the interference of some of the Powers seemed probable, and the consequences might be fatal to the Turkish Empire.

Some delay arose before the Prince of Montenegro's formal adhesion to the Servian request for good offices was received, and the assent of the Powers could be procured. This having been done, in order to obviate any question as to the mode of proceeding (the Austrian Government having objected to a collective note), Her Majesty's Government took the initiative on the 1st of September, by instructing Sir H. Elliot to propose at once to the Turkish Government an armistice of not less than a month's duration, with a view to the immediate discussion of terms of peace,—the armistice to include all combatants.

The other foreign Representatives at Constantinople supported Her Majesty's Ambassador in making these proposals. The Porte, however, objected to an armistice, notwithstanding the strong representations which Sir H. Elliot was directed to address to them.

On the 14th of September, the Turkish Memorandum in answer to the proposals of mediation was received. It stated the conditions of peace expected by the Porte from Servia, as follows:—

“ 1. La personne investie de la dignité de

Prince de Serbie devra venir dans la capitale pour rendre hommage à Sa Majesté.

“ 2. Les quatre forteresses dont la garde seulement avait été confiée par le Firman de 1283 au Prince de Serbie, et dont la possession ab antiquo était demeurée au Gouvernement Impérial, seront réoccupées par l'armée Impériale comme par le passé ; et sur ce point on se conformera strictement aux dispositions du Protocole du 8 Septembre, 1862.

“ 3. Les milices seront abolies. Le nombre des forces nécessaires pour maintenir l'ordre dans l'intérieur de la Principauté ne dépassera pas 10,000 hommes avec deux batteries d'artillerie.

“ 4. Ainsi qu'il est stipulé dans le Firman de 1249, la Serbie sera tenue de renvoyer dans leurs foyers les habitants des provinces limitrophes qui y émigreraient, et, excepté les forteresses qui existent en Serbie ab antiquo, toutes fortifications postérieurement établies devront être complètement démolies.

“ 5. Si la Serbie ne se trouve pas à même d'acquitter l'indemnité dont le montant sera déterminé, le tribut actuel de la Principauté sera augmenté de l'intérêt de la somme représentative de l'indemnité.

“ 6. Le Gouvernement Ottoman aura le droit de faire construire et exploiter par ses agents, ou par une Compagnie Ottomane, à son choix, la ligne qui devra relier Belgrade au chemin de fer aboutissant à Niseh.”

The Memorandum added, however, that the Imperial Government submitted these conditions entirely to the judgment and equitable consideration of the Mediating Powers. With regard to Montenegro, the Porte held to the status quo. As soon as the Powers had expressed their judgment on the conditions, the Porte would give orders to suspend hostilities within twenty-four hours, and resume friendly relations with the two Principalities.

A message was at the same time delivered to the Dragomans of the Embassies to the effect that, without waiting for the opinions of the Powers, the order for the cessation of hostilities would be sent that night or the next morning. The demand of the Powers being thus practically complied with, it was hoped that they would induce the two Princes to give corresponding orders.

Her Majesty's Government expressed satisfaction on the receipt of this intelligence, and instructions were sent to Mr. White to press the Servian Government, if necessary, to give similar orders. It was stated, however, that in so doing, Her Majesty's Government must not be understood as acquiescing in the terms of peace proposed by the Porte, some of which they considered to be quite inadmissible.

On the 17th of September Sir A. Buchanan reported that the Porte had notified in writing a suspension of hostilities until the 25th.

On the 18th Sir H. Elliot was instructed to inform the Porte that Her Majesty's Government accepted the suspension of hostilities as equivalent to an armistice, in the confidence that it would be further extended in case of necessity, and that they had reason to believe from the language held by the Russian Ambassador that his Government would take the same view.

In the meanwhile Her Majesty's Government, finding that the Porte objected to an armistice, but were prepared to negotiate terms of peace, had been in communication with the other Powers respecting the provisions which might properly form the basis of pacification, and which I had, in the first instance, communicated to the Russian Ambassador. They were —

The status quo, speaking roughly, both as regards Servia and Montenegro.

Administrative reforms in the nature of local autonomy for Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Guarantees of a similar kind against mal-administration in Bulgaria. The exact details of these might be discussed later.

And it was added that any modification of the Treaty of Paris unfavourable to Servia, the resumption of the right of Turkey to garrison Servian fortresses, or the deposition of Prince Milan, would be regarded as inadmissible.

The Austrian Government having objected, in the first instance, to the idea of autonomy as applied to the insurgent provinces, it was explained that by the phrase “local or administrative autonomy,” as applied to Bosnia and Herzegovina, nothing more was intended by Her Majesty’s Government than a system of local institutions which should give the population some control over their own local affairs, and guarantees against the exercise of arbitrary authority. There was no question of the creation of a tributary State.

Upon receiving this explanation the Austrian Government declared themselves prepared to give, in principle, their complete consent to the proposals, expressing at the same time their desire that it should be formally recorded that the reforms already required from and accepted by the Porte in the Andrassy note should form the basis of the “local autonomy.”

The other Powers, while they were unanimous in rejecting the proposals of the Porte, also declared themselves willing to join in recommending the basis proposed by Her Majesty’s Government.

Sir H. Elliot was therefore instructed on the 21st of September to state formally to the Porte that the following were the provisions which seemed to Her Majesty's Government proper to form the basis of pacification :—

1. The status quo, speaking roughly, both as regards Servia and Montenegro.

2. That the Porte should simultaneously undertake, in a Protocol to be signed at Constantinople with the representatives of the mediating Powers, to grant to Bosnia and Herzegovina a system of local or administrative autonomy, by which is to be understood a system of local institutions which shall give the population some control over their own local affairs, and guarantees against the exercise of arbitrary authority. There is to be no question of the creation of a tributary State.

Guarantees of a similar kind to be also provided against maladministration in Bulgaria. The exact details of these might be discussed later.

His Excellency was instructed to add that the reforms already agreed to by the Porte in the note addressed to the Representatives of the Powers on the 13th of February last would be expected to be included in the administrative arrangements for Bosnia and the Herzegovina, and, so far as they might be applicable, for Bulgaria.

He was further to state that as the continuance of hostilities, while the conditions of peace were in consideration between the Powers and the Porte, would be obviously inexpedient, an early arrangement should be made for the conclusion of a formal armistice.

After conferring with his colleagues, Sir H. Elliot fulfilled the instructions given to him, and communicated on the 25th September the conditions of peace proposed by Her Majesty's Government, which were supported a few days later by the representatives of the other Powers, including Russia.

On the 24th of September Sir H. Elliot reported that the Porte had not yet consented to a formal armistice, but was willing to prolong the suspension of hostilities until the 2nd of October.

Prince Milan, however, rejected the proposal, professing himself ready to conclude a regular armistice, but not an arrangement like the one hitherto in operation, which he considered ill-defined.

Her Majesty's Government, in reply, expressed their surprise that Servia, after having asked for the mediation of the Powers, should have thought fit, without further consultation, to refuse the prolonged suspension of hostilities offered by Turkey; and this at a time when endeavours were making to obtain for her more favourable terms of peace than the issue of the campaign gave her a right to expect. They thought it proper to add that any attempt on the part of the Servian Commanders to renew active operations would throw on Servia the responsibility of the consequences, and forfeit the support of England. Hostilities were, nevertheless resumed, and in explaining the action of Russia in the matter, Count Schouvaloff told me that though his Government had advised the Servian Government not to renew hostilities, yet that they could not press the matter, as they had from the first required the conclusion of a regular armistice.

It had, in the meantime, become evident that the Turkish Government entertained strong objections, both to the signature of a Protocol promising reforms in the insurgent provinces, by which they said the prestige and authority of the Porte in all parts of the Empire would be impaired, and to the expression of "local autonomy" as applied to those reforms.

On the 26th of September, Count Schouvaloff communicated to me proposals from the Russian Government that, in the event of the terms of peace being refused by the Porte, Bosnia should be occupied by an Austrian and Bulgaria by a Russian force, and the united fleets of the Powers should enter the Bosphorus. The Russian Government stated themselves, however, to be willing to abandon the proposal of occupation, if the naval demonstration was considered sufficient by Her Majesty's Government.

General Sumarokoff arrived in Vienna at the same time with a similar proposal.

On the 3rd of October a suggestion was made in conversation with Count Schouvaloff that in case of an unfavourable reply from the Porte to the proposals then before it, the Powers should fall back upon their original demand for an armistice.

Count Schouvaloff said that he would telegraph this suggestion at once to Livadia, and on the following day his Excellency called and read to me a telegram from Prince Gortchakow which he had received, although he was not certain that it was in answer to his message. Prince Gortchakow's telegram was to the following effect:—

A regular suspension of hostilities of sufficient length not having been established, and the negotiations for peace having encountered unexpected difficulties at Constantinople, the contest had been renewed in the valley of the Morava.

The Imperial Government could not be indifferent to the bloodshed thus caused, and the Emperor proposed to the Guaranteeing Powers that it should be arrested by immediately imposing an armistice or truce of six weeks on both parties, so as to give the mediating Governments time to consider the means of definitively arranging the pending questions.

I had no difficulty in submitting this proposal to my colleagues, and informed Count Schouvaloff that Her Majesty's Government had decided to give their support to the proposal of an armistice of not less than a month as the next step to be taken in the event of the rejection by Turkey of the proposed terms for a basis of peace. They had, I said, on the other hand, been unable to concur in the measures of occupation and the entry of the united fleets into the Bosphorus, which had been previously suggested by Prince Gortchakow.

Sir Henry Elliot was accordingly instructed, on the 5th, in the event of the terms of peace which had been proposed by the Powers being refused, to press upon the Porte as an alternative to grant an armistice of not less than a month, and to state that, on the conclusion of an armistice, it was proposed that a Conference should immediately follow. He was further to intimate that, in case of the refusal of an armistice, he was instructed to leave Constantinople, as it would then be evident that all further exertions on the part of Her Majesty's Government to save the Porte from ruin would have become useless.

Her Majesty's Government, at the same time, informed the Governments of the other Powers of this proposal of an armistice, and the opinion of Her Majesty's Government that the armistice should be followed by a Conference.

The plan of renewing the demand for an armistice received unanimous support, but the suggestion of a Conference gave rise to some objections and inquiries. The Austrian Government, in a despatch, the substance of which was communicated to me by Count Beust on the 9th of October, while stating their desire not to thwart the action of England, requested information on the following points:—

1. Whether the Porte is to take part in the Conference.
2. Where the Conference is to meet.
3. If the Conference is to be composed of the Foreign Ministers of the respective countries or of Plenipotentiaries.
4. What is to be the programme of the Conference.

They stated that it would depend upon the information derived from the answers to these questions whether they could waive the objections they entertained to the idea. Until then they were of opinion that a Commission at Constantinople, such as had previously been suggested, would be a preferable plan, and would more profitably employ the time allowed by the armistice.

As Count Beust did not ask for an immediate reply to the above queries, I told his Excellency that I must reserve my opinion on the first point, namely, whether or no the Porte should be represented in the Conference. It would be necessary to ascertain the views of other Powers, which were still unknown to me.

As to the second question I must equally reserve a final expression of opinion; but, personally, I was inclined to think that Constantinople would be on various accounts the most convenient place of meeting.

As to the third, I considered that the personal attendance of the various Foreign Ministers at a Conference, whose sittings might last some time, would be in many respects unadvisable.

As to the fourth, I agreed in the view, which I understood to be that of Count Andrassy, that a Conference without a basis was not likely to lead to good results; and I thought that a programme, more or less definite, ought to be agreed upon before it met; but the terms of such programme would require care in framing, and I could only say that it should be submitted to the Powers in due course.

On the other hand it appeared that the Russian Government were likely to stipulate for the exclusion of the Turkish Representative from at least the first portion of the deliberations of the Conference—a step which seemed to make it undesirable that Constantinople should be the place of meeting.

In a despatch addressed to your Excellency on the 11th of October, I reverted to the subject of the influx of Russian volunteers into Servia, which had already formed the subject of conversation between Count Schouvaloff and myself. I pointed out the embarrassment caused to the Roumanian Government by the passage of these volunteers through their territory, and stated that Her Majesty's Government considered that the Government of Prince Charles had some right to complain that their conscientious efforts to remain neutral were thus thwarted. I went on to say that the Government of Great Britain would be the last to suggest the repression of sympathy with a popular cause as long as it did not exceed the limits prescribed by international law, but that the presence of Russian officers and soldiers in the Servian army had assumed proportions little short of national assistance.

If the Emperor of Russia was as sincerely desirous of a speedy and peaceful termination of the war as Her Majesty's Government believed him to be, he could scarcely be insensible to the difficulties thus thrown in the way of a settlement.

The assistance so openly given to Servia must tend to excite irritation and suspicion in the minds of the Turkish Ministers, and at the same time to raise the hopes of the Servian Government and render them less inclined to listen to reasonable terms. Beyond this there was the danger, that the presence of so large a foreign element in the Servian army might lead to a spirit of insubordination and constitute its commanders into military chiefs, independent and impatient of the control of Prince Milan's Government.

These considerations Her Majesty's Government wished to press on the serious attention of the Emperor and his advisers, and you were instructed to take an opportunity of expressing yourself to the Russian Government in this sense.

On the 12th of October the Turkish Government communicated to the Representatives of the Mediating Powers at Constantinople, a note, in which they stated that, taking act of the proposal of the Powers for the re-establishment of peace with Servia and Montenegro on the basis of the status quo ante, and while declaring themselves ready to submit to the decision of the Powers on the conditions they had themselves proposed, they were ready to consent to the conclusion of a regular armistice. They considered, however, that it should extend to six months from the 1st of October to the 31st of March. They requested, at the same time, that the Powers should name delegates to arrange the terms of the armistice on the spot, and stated that they were ready at once to give the necessary instructions to their troops, and that then the delegates would have to come to an understanding with the commanders of the contending armies on the details of the armistice, and with respect to the necessity of not permitting the Servians to re-occupy the positions now in the possession of the Imperial troops. The Porte further hoped that the Powers would take measures to put a stop to the introduction of arms and munitions of war into the Principalities, as well as to the influx of volunteers, and felt confident that the Powers, while impressing on the Principalities the necessity of scrupulously observing the obligations imposed by the armistice, would be able to prevent all attempts on their part to encourage directly or indirectly the insurrectionary movements in the neighbouring provinces, or to furnish aid to the insurgents.

On the same day a general scheme of reform was promulgated for the whole Ottoman Empire, the substance of which was communicated to me on the 13th by the Turkish Ambassador. These reforms consisted in the establishment of a Senate and of a Representative Assembly to vote the budget and taxes, a revision of the system of taxation, the reorganization of the provincial administration, the full execution of the law of the vilayets, with a large extension of the right of election, and other measures of reform, including the practical measures which had been desired to be introduced into Bosnia and the Herzegovina.

Immediately on learning by telegraph from Sir H. Elliot the intention of the Porte to grant a six months' armistice, I pressed upon Count Schouvaloff and Count Beust the importance of their Governments inducing Servia to accept the armistice. I also urged this through Her Majesty's Embassies at Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg, and Rome, and sent instructions in the same sense to Belgrade and Montenegro.

The Russian Ambassador expressed his doubts whether the armistice would be accepted at Livadia. I thought it right to warn his Excellency that, however strong might be the feeling of national indignation against Turkish cruelties, it would be superseded by a very different sentiment if it were once believed by the English nation that Constantinople was threatened. I said that, rightly or wrongly, the conclusion to which every one here would come would be that the rejection by Russia of the Turkish proposal indicated a fixed purpose of going to war; and I entreated him to omit no effort to make his Government understand the light in which this resolution would be viewed by the English people.

On the 12th I learned from Lord Lyons that the French Government would send immediately instructions to the French Agent at Belgrade to urge the Servians to accept the armistice, and on the 13th the Austrian Ambassador informed me that his Government accepted the proposal of six months' armistice, would do all in their power to procure its acceptance by other States, and would use their best efforts in that sense both at Belgrade and with the Prince of Montenegro. They still declared, however, that they could not determine their course as to a Conference without knowing the programme. They considered the exclusion of a Turkish Representative contrary to the Treaty of Paris, and they hoped that the questions of the armistice and conference might be kept separate, and the armistice agreed to without being complicated by considerations as to future negotiations.

On the 12th the Russian Chargé d'Affaires at Constantinople had expressed himself against a long armistice, and when reminded by Sir H. Elliot that his Government had asked a short time previously for one of three months, replied that circumstances had changed, and he did not believe that his Government would be satisfied with the present proposal; and on the 16th Count Schouvaloff communicated to me the telegram from Prince Gortchakow, dated Livadia, October 14th, of which the following is a translation:—

“ We do not think an armistice of six months necessary or favourable to the conclusion of a durable peace, which we desire. We cannot exercise pressure on Servia or Montenegro to make them consent to the uncertainty of their difficult situation being so prolonged. Lastly, we consider that the financial and commercial position of all Europe, already intolerable, would suffer still more from this delay. We must insist (‘devons insister’) on an armistice of a month or six weeks, the original proposal of England, subject to its being prolonged if the progress of the negotiations shows it to be necessary.”

I told Count Schouvaloff that I had received this communication with regret, and pointed out to him that the proposal of Her Majesty's Government was for an armistice of “not less than a month;” no objection being taken on our part to a longer term.

The Italian Government likewise demurred to the proposal for a long armistice.

Under these circumstances, Her Majesty's Government thought it right to make an appeal to that of Germany, which had hitherto remained uncommitted to either view. I accordingly requested the German Ambassador to lay the matter before the Cabinet of Berlin, and to inquire whether they saw an opportunity of exerting their influence to procure the acceptance of some compromise which might avert the danger, now to all appearance imminent, of an open rupture between Turkey and Russia.

On the 19th instant his Excellency communicated to me Prince Bismarck's reply, which was to the effect that although an armistice of six months appeared to the German Government acceptable, and they would have wished Russia to accept it, they did not think that taking into account the position they had held till then, they would be justified in exercising a pressure on the resolutions of other Powers. Prince Bismarck suggested, however, that perhaps an armistice of six weeks might offer some chance of a solution.

In this state of things, as it was evident that any efforts to bring about the acceptance of the Turkish proposal of a six months' armistice by Servia and Montenegro were checked by the attitude of Russia, Her Majesty's Government felt that further efforts on their part were useless. I therefore informed the Russian Ambassador that having accepted the Turkish proposal for a six months' armistice, Her Majesty's Government were not prepared to withdraw their acceptance or to make any new proposition. I stated, however, that Her Majesty's Government would offer no objection to a shorter term if the Porte were willing to consent to it, but that they would not press the Porte to do so.

I have since learned from Sir Henry Elliot that the Porte has informed the Russian Government that they agree to an armistice of six weeks, on condition that if the negotiations are not ended by that time, it should be renewed for a similar term, and again for two months if the second period passed without result.

In the foregoing summary of the negotiations, I have indicated the successive steps which Her Majesty's Government have taken to secure an agreement among the Powers. Upon the application of Servia for their good offices they first obtained the support of all the Powers to a proposal to the Porte of an armistice of not less than a month, and on the Porte advancing terms of peace as a counter-proposal, Her Majesty's Government submitted to Russia in the first instance, and then to the other Powers, provisions which might in their opinion form the basis of pacification, and which likewise secured the concurrence of the Powers. When subsequently difficulty occurred in obtaining the acceptance of these provisions by the Porte, Her Majesty's Government, again in concert with Russia, recommended that the proposal of an armistice should be reverted to, and pressed it upon the Porte in the strongest manner of which diplomatic action will admit, at the same time suggesting a Conference—a suggestion which, from what had previously passed, Her Majesty's Government had reason to suppose would also prove acceptable to the Russian Government. If obstacles have been interposed which have frustrated the intentions of Her Majesty's Government, they have not been occasioned by any failure on their part to meet objections in a conciliatory spirit. The object which has been sought throughout has been to arrive at a speedy and durable pacification.

Her Majesty's Government have felt that the continuance of the present war, which was commenced in defiance of the public remonstrances of Russia and the Powers, is all the more lamentable from being unnecessary, since there are no avowed ends to be attained by it which could not be better and more surely arrived at by peaceable discussion. It has long been evident that, so far as the improvement of the condition of the disturbed districts of Turkey and of the non-Mussulman population generally throughout the Empire is concerned, the unaided action of Servia and Montenegro could have no practical effect, and that, from the time when the question passed into the hands of the Mediating Powers, further bloodshed served only to add to the distress and misery of the population.

Her Majesty's Government have done all that has been in their power to procure the cessation of hostilities and the re-establishment of peace, for which Servia and Montenegro appealed to their good offices. They believed that this would be accomplished by a prolonged armistice, and supported that proposal accordingly, feeling convinced that such an armistice meant peace; nor could they regard the period as unreasonable, inasmuch as the discussions which took place in 1861 with regard to the constitution of the Lebanon occupied from the 22nd of January to the 9th of June. They regret that other counsels have prevailed, and that the uncertainty of the situation has thus been continued, with the commercial and agricultural distress which must ensue from it in Servia and Montenegro and the adjacent districts. They are unable to see how the constantly impending possibility of war can be otherwise than ruinous to all the countries concerned, and would hail with satisfaction any proposal which might bring such a state of things to an end.

They cannot, however, consider that it lies with them to advance any fresh propositions, and, while most anxious to co-operate with the other Powers in any measures of pacification in which the Powers may concur, must refrain from pledging themselves to anything which may impede their liberty of action hereafter should the rights and interests of this country be affected.

Your Excellency will read this despatch to Prince Gortchakow, and give his Excellency a copy of it, stating at the same time that Her Majesty's Government feel assured that he will find in it a convincing proof of the earnest desire which they have shown to act in concert with the Russian Government, and to maintain in all respects the good relations subsisting between Great Britain and Russia.

I am, &c.

THE Board of Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs a Despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, enclosing the following Royal Order:—

(Translation.)

Modification of the Spanish Tariff of Consular Fees.

Form in which Modified.

1. The fees for the provisional transfer (to the national flag) of foreign ships, and for the sale of Spanish ships established under Articles 41 and 42 of the Tariffs, are reduced in each case to $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the value of the ships, instead of 1 per cent., as charged at present.

2. The dues to which these four articles refer are definitively suppressed.

3. In substitution of the same, it is ordered that, for the examination of the invoices presented by shippers for the purpose of being comprised in the manifests which captains are required to present in the administrations of Customs, at their destinations there, shall be paid 20 or 50 centimos (cents) of a peseta for each ton of 1,000 kilogrammes, or fraction of a ton, declared in accordance with the rules defined for other duties in the Tariff.

In order to verify the exactitude of the said invoices the Consul will demand of the captains a copy of the bill of lading corresponding to each invoice.

4. An equal duty will be levied on merchandise imported by land, and which must be specified in the bills of the sender of such merchandise.

5. The duty established for the states of Europe, and for those of Africa and Asia, on the coasts of the Mediterranean and of the Black Sea will be extended to those parts of Africa situated on the Atlantic as far as the frontier of the foreign colony established in Senegambia.

November 14, 1876.

THE Queen has been graciously pleased to confer the Albert Medal of the Second Class on :—

JOHN SKELTON SUMMERS, Master of the fishing boat "Flying Scur," of Peterhead.

The following is an account of the services in respect of which the decoration has been conferred :—

On the 3rd of August, 1876, SUMMERS was riding by his nets, 35 miles east-south-east from Buchanness, and broke adrift about noon in the height of a violent gale, with a dangerous cross sea running, accompanied with heavy rain. About 15 minutes after getting his close-reefed foresail set, to make for the land, he observed a boat on his weather bow, about a quarter of a mile off, with sail down, and making signals of distress. He hauled up for her at once, and, on nearing, observed she was swamped, and her mast lying over to leeward at an angle of about 45° , rendering great caution necessary in approaching her, for fear of carrying away his own mast, as she rolled so heavily in the trough of the sea.

At the first sweep, close on her port quarter, SUMMERS picked off two men with lines ; but he had to wear round and come up to her again five times before he succeeded in getting off the third man ; but, nothing daunted, he repeated his manœuvre nearly twenty times before he got off the last man, who was the master, and who was much exhausted.

SUMMERS first observed the distressed vessel at about 12.30, and it was 4 P.M. before the last man was dragged on board. In consequence of the violence of the gale, he did not reach Peterhead until four o'clock next morning.

The total number of men rescued was six ; and there is little doubt that this could not have been effected if SUMMERS had not displayed great coolness and intrepidity, combined with very skilful handling of his boat.

Whitehall, November 11, 1876.

The Queen has been pleased to grant unto Arthur Charles Humphreys, of Glansevern, in the parish of Berriew, in the county of Montgomery, Esquire, in the Commission of the Peace, and a Deputy Lieutenant for the said county, eldest son of Erskine Humphreys, of Lincoln's-inn, in the county of Middlesex, Esquire, Barrister-at-Law, Her Royal licence and authority

And to command that the said Royal concession and declaration be recorded in Her Majesty's said College of Arms.

FROM THE
LONDON GAZETTE of NOVEMBER 21,
 1876.

Foreign Office, November 21, 1876.

FURTHER Papers relating to the affairs of Turkey :—

The Earl of Derby to Sir H. Elliot.

Foreign Office,

SIR, November 4, 1876.

HER Majesty's Government believe from the communications which they have received from the Powers, that there is a general feeling that the only solution of the questions arising out of recent events in Turkey is to be found in a Conference, but that there is some hesitation felt in formally proposing it.

Under these circumstances, and with the view of bringing about a satisfactory settlement of those questions, Her Majesty's Government have determined to renew the suggestion made by them on the 5th ultimo, and to take the initiative in proposing that a Conference should be held forthwith at Constantinople, in which all the Guaranteeing Powers and the Porte should take part, and each Government should be at liberty to appoint two Plenipotentiaries to represent it.

Her Majesty's Government further submit as the bases for the deliberations of the Conference :—

1. The independence and the territorial integrity of the Ottoman Empire.
2. A declaration that the Powers do not intend to seek for, and will not seek for, any territorial advantages, any exclusive influence, or any concession with regard to the commerce of their subjects which those of every other nation may not equally obtain.

This declaration was made on September 17, 1840, in the Protocol for the pacification of the Levant, and again August 3, 1860, in regard to the pacification of Syria.

3. The bases of pacification proposed to the Porte on the 21st of September, viz. :—

(a.) The status quo, speaking roughly, both as regards Servia and Montenegro.

(b.) That the Porte should simultaneously undertake, in a Protocol to be signed at Constantinople with the Representatives of the Mediating Powers, to grant to Bosnia and Herzegovina, a system of local or administrative autonomy, by which is to be understood a system of local institutions which shall give the population some control over their own local affairs, and guarantees against the exercise of arbitrary authority. There is to be no question of the creation of a tributary State.

Guarantees of a similar kind to be also provided against mal-administration in Bulgaria. The reforms already agreed to by the Porte in the Note addressed to the Representatives of the Powers on the 13th of February last, to be included in the administrative arrangements for Bosnia and the Herzegovina, and, so far as they may be applicable, for Bulgaria.

Her Majesty's Government desire that your Excellency should propose to the Government to which you are accredited a Conference on these bases, and you may state, that if this proposal meets with general acceptance, Her Majesty's Government will lose no time in appointing a special Ambassador to proceed to Constantinople to take part in the Conference.

If the other powers thought it advisable, Her Majesty's Government would not object to their Plenipotentiaries joining in preliminary discussions with the Plenipotentiaries of the other five Guaranteeing Powers, before the opening of the Conference. These discussions to be on the same bases as those proposed for the Conference.

I am, &c.,
(Signed) DERBY.

The Earl of Derby to Sir H. Elliot.

Foreign Office,
November 4, 1876.

SIR,

IN my preceding Despatch of this day's date, I have informed you of the proposals of Her Majesty's Government for the assembling of a Conference, and I have now to state to your Excellency Her Majesty's Government have considered that it would be useful that a Special Ambassador should be sent to the Conference, and that it is their wish that you should act with him.

Her Majesty's Government are anxious that you should understand that there is nothing in this appointment which in any way affects their confidence in you as Her Majesty's Representative, and I should add that the Special Ambassador will be merely appointed ad hoc to attend the Conference with you, and will not interfere in any respect with the ordinary business of your Embassy.

I am, &c ,
(Signed) DERBY.

The Earl of Derby to Sir H. Elliot.

Foreign Office,

SIR,

November 8, 1876.

I HAVE to state to your Excellency that the Queen has been pleased to appoint the Most Honourable the Marquis of Salisbury, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to be Her Majesty's Special Ambassador to attend the proposed Conference jointly with yourself.

I have informed by telegraph the Governments of the Guaranteeing Powers of this having been done, and have to request your Excellency also to inform the Porte.

I am, &c.,

(Signed) DERBY.

The Earl of Derby to Sir H. Elliot.

Foreign Office,

SIR,

November 20, 1876.

YOUR telegraphic Despatch stating that the Porte had agreed, after the assembling of a General Council, on the 18th instant, to the proposed Conference having been received, the Marquis of Salisbury left England this morning, with the members of the Special Embassy, to proceed to Constantinople.

As your Excellency is already aware, the proposals made by Her Majesty's Government on the 4th instant, have already been accepted by the Governments of the other Powers.

I am, &c.,

(Signed) DERBY.

Lord A. Loftus to the Earl of Derby.

MY LORD,

Yalta, November 1, 1876.

I RECEIVED a note yesterday evening from Prince Gortchakow, to inform me that the Emperor was unable to receive me to-day, in consequence of its being the anniversary of the death of the late Empress.

I met Prince Gortchakow yesterday, and inquired whether his Highness had received any satisfactory intelligence from Constantinople. His Highness replied that he had intelligence to communicate, but he preferred that the Emperor should communicate it to me at my audience, which was then fixed for to-day. I received later from St. Petersburg the official declaration published in the "Journal de St. Pétersbourg," announcing that General Ignatiew had been instructed to declare to the Sublime Porte that if within a delay of two days it did not accept an armistice of six weeks or two months, and if it did not give immediate orders to arrest military operations, the Ambassador would leave Constantinople with all the members of the Embassy, and that diplomatic relations would be broken off.

I then understood that this was the intelligence which Prince Gortchakow preferred should be communicated to me directly by the Emperor.

General Schweinitz, the German Ambassador, arrived here last night direct from Berlin. He informs me that the official answer of the Porte to the Russian ultimatum is expected to-morrow, and he stated that hopes were entertained that the armistice would be granted by the Porte if it should not be opposed by Sir Henry Elliot.

Mr. Doria to the Earl of Derby.*

St. Petersburg, October 31, 1876.

(Telegraphie.)

THE following paragraph appeared in the official part of this morning's "Journal de St. Pétersbourg :"—

" St. Pétersbourg, le $\frac{1}{30}$ Octobre, 1876.

" Sa Majesté l'Empereur a daigné ordonner aujourd'hui $\frac{30}{18}$ Octobre que l'Aide-de-camp Général Ignatiev déclare à la Sublime Porte que si dans un délai de deux jours elle n'accepte pas un armistice de six semaines ou de deux mois, et si elle ne donne pas des ordres immédiats pour arrêter les opérations militaires, l'Ambassadeur quittera Constantinople avec tout le personnel de l'Ambassade et les relations diplomatiques seront rompues."

* Repeated to Lord A. Loftus.

Lord A. Loftus to the Earl of Derby.

MY LORD, Yalta, November 2, 1876.

I HAD an audience of the Emperor of Russia to-day at Livadia, when His Majesty was pleased to receive me with his customary kindness and cordiality. After some gracious inquiries after my family, His Majesty at once opened on the Eastern question.

His Majesty stated that he had that morning received a telegram from Constantinople, announcing the probable acceptance of the armistice, and he read to me another telegram reporting that orders had been already sent by the Porte to their Commanders to suspend military operations. This, His Majesty observed, was very satisfactory.

On my observing on the sudden change which had taken place between the Sunday when I had seen the Chancellor and the following day, when the ultimatum was dispatched to General Ignatiew, His Majesty said that this had been caused by the intelligence he had received of the complete discomfiture of the Servian army, and his fear that it might be followed by similar atrocities as those which had occurred in Bulgaria.

His Majesty had decided on addressing an ultimatum in order to prevent a further unnecessary effusion of blood, and he observed that no one was more astonished to receive this instruction than General Ignatiew himself.

His Majesty expressed very earnestly his wish that the Conference should meet with the least delay, and that instructions should be immediately sent by the several Governments to enable the Ambassadors at Constantinople to deliberate at once on the necessary preliminaries of peace, taking as the basis the proposals which had been submitted by your Lordship.

The Emperor, then, with great calmness and lucidity, entered on a retrospective view of the past negotiations. He stated that he had given every proof of his desire for peace, and that he had done everything in his power to aid in arriving at a pacific solution of the existing complications.

He had supported your Lordship's previous demand for an armistice of six weeks, which was refused by the Porte, and was followed by a mere suspension of hostilities for ten days, which proved wholly illusory. His Majesty considered that this refusal of the Porte to a collective appeal of Europe was a "soufflet" given to the Powers. He had patiently submitted from a wish not to separate from the European concert.

Your Lordship then submitted the proposals to serve as a basis for peace. To these, also, His Majesty had assented, and they were equally agreed to by the other Powers.

To these proposals the Porte had replied evasively, declining to convey her acceptance in the form of a Protocol, and notifying that a wholesale measure of reform was under consideration, which would be applied indiscriminately to the Empire at large, and which even went beyond the demands of the Powers.

On this refusal, your Lordship had, simultaneously with a similar proposal from His Majesty's Government, addressed to the Porte a demand for an armistice of not less than a month, for the purpose of enabling the Powers to deliberate on the conditions of peace. His Majesty's Government had supported this demand in conjunction with the other Powers, and to this the Porte had replied by a counter-proposal, offering an armistice of five months, which, under the circumstances, and for the reasons given by his Government, could not be supported or recommended to the belligerent parties.

Thus, said His Majesty, the Porte, by a series of manœuvres, had rendered ineffectual all the attempts of collective Europe for arresting the war and for securing a general pacification.

His Majesty then said that if Europe was willing to receive these repeated rebuffs from the Porte, he could no longer consider it as consistent either with the honour, the dignity, or the interests of Russia.

He was anxious not to separate from the European concert, but the present state of things was intolerable and could no longer be allowed to continue, and unless Europe was prepared to act with firmness and energy, he should be obliged to act alone.

His Majesty then referred more especially to his relations with England. He said he regretted to see that there still existed in England an "inveterate" suspicion of Russian policy, and a continual fear of Russian aggression and conquest. He had on several occasions given the most solemn assurances that he desired no conquest; that he aimed at no aggrandisement, and that he had not the smallest wish or intention to be possessed of Constantinople. All that had been said or written about a will of Peter the Great and the aims of Catherine the Second were illusions and phantoms; they never existed in reality, and he considered that the acquisition of Constantinople would be a misfortune for Russia. There was no question of it, nor had it ever been entertained by his late father, who had given a proof of it in 1828, when his victorious army was within four days' march of the Turkish capital.

His Majesty pledged his sacred word of honour in the most earnest and solemn manner that he had no intention of acquiring Constantinople, and that if necessity should oblige him to occupy a portion of Bulgaria, it would only be provisionally, and until peace and the safety of the Christian population were secured.

His Majesty here reverted to the proposal addressed to Her Majesty's Government for the occupation of Bosnia by Austria, of Bulgaria by Russia, and of a naval demonstration at Constantinople, where, he said, Her Majesty's fleet would have been the dominant Power. This, His Majesty thought, ought to be a sufficient proof that Russia entertained no intention of occupying that capital.

His Majesty could not understand, when both countries had a common object, namely, the maintenance of peace and the amelioration of the condition of the Christians—and when he had given every proof that he had no desire for conquest or aggrandizement, why there should not be a perfect understanding between England and Russia—an understanding based on a policy of peace, which would be equally beneficial to their mutual interests, and to those of Europe at large.

“Intentions,” said His Majesty, “are attributed to Russia of a future conquest of India and of the possession of Constantinople. Can anything be more absurd? With regard to the former it is a perfect impossibility, and as regards the latter I repeat again the most solemn assurances that I entertain neither the wish nor the intention.”

His Majesty deeply deplored the distrust of his policy which was manifested in England, and the evil effects it produced, and he earnestly requested me to do my utmost to dispel this cloud of suspicion and distrust of Russia, and charged me to convey to Her Majesty’s Government the solemn assurances he had repeated to me.

I assured the Emperor that Her Majesty’s Government were perfectly cognizant of, and fully appreciated His Majesty’s pacific intentions. I observed that the proposed occupation of Turkish territory had worked a change in the public opinion of England, and had produced alarm.

I expressed a hope that the acceptance of the armistice would now enable the Powers to bring about a satisfactory pacification, and that it was of essential importance that the European concert should be maintained. I observed that the question of autonomy appeared to me as likely to offer the chief difficulty, and that, as it more directly affected Austrian interests, care should be taken not to exceed those limits which could be accepted by Austria. I said that in Bosnia and Bulgaria there was a large Mussulman and Catholic population, and mostly of the proprietary class, and their interests must be taken into account.

I then referred to the reported pretensions of Servia and Roumania to be erected into independent kingdoms. Such a measure, I observed, would be the first step towards a dissolution of the Turkish Empire in Europe. History, I said, recorded the existence in former times of a kingdom of Bohemia, a kingdom of Servia, and a kingdom of Poland; they had all disappeared, and their dissolution had been chiefly caused by internal dissensions. If the pretensions of Servia and Roumania should be now admitted, it would be the creation of so many small Polands, which very probably would drift into Republics, which would neither be for the peace nor security of the neighbouring States.

The Emperor said that there was no question of establishing kingdoms of Servia and Roumania, and that it would be a folly ("une sottise") to do so.

The Proclamation of Prince Milan had been the act of the army, which His Majesty thoroughly disapproved, and in consequence His Majesty had advised Prince Milan not to visit the headquarters. He had, however, received a telegram from the Prince excusing himself for not obeying His Majesty's advice on the grounds that duty to his country obliged him to go to his army under the present adverse circumstances.

A reference to the number of Russian volunteers in the Servian ranks induced me to observe that it had been very instrumental in producing the feverish excitement in Russia. To this, His Majesty replied that he had permitted the officers to go provided they left the Russian service, and that he had hoped by so doing to calm the agitation ("de jeter de l'eau froide" was His Majesty's expression). His Majesty added that a great many Russian Officers had fallen, and that the enthusiasm for the Servians had very much calmed down.

The Emperor then said that he would now sum up the general observations he had made in the following points:—

1. The armistice which he hoped had been accepted.

2. The immediate meeting of a Conference, the principal object of which was to agree upon the introduction of such reforms in the three Provinces as will safeguard the interests of the Christian populations, and give them that autonomy as may be necessary for that purpose. And,

3. That the Porte shall give effective guarantees for the execution of these reforms.

His Majesty then took leave of me in the same cordial and gracious manner in which he had received me.

I have, &c.

NOTE.—The substance of this Despatch was telegraphed.

Lord A. Loftus to the Earl of Derby.

MY LORD,

Yalta, November 4, 1876.

I HAVE thought it desirable, both for my own responsibility and for future reference, if required, to have an official confirmation of the assurances given me by the Emperor of Russia in my audience of His Majesty on the 2nd instant. I accordingly called this morning on Prince Gortchakow, and read to him my Despatch of the 2nd instant, reporting His Imperial Majesty's conversation with me.

His Highness stated that it very correctly reported the views and opinions which His Majesty had told him, Prince Görtchakow, that he had expressed to me, and His Highness requested me to allow him to communicate it to His Majesty.

I willingly agreed to his Highness' request, and left a copy of my Despatch in his hands for that purpose.

There was only one alteration which the Prince suggested, and which at his request I made. In referring to the Russian proposal for the occupation of Turkish territory, I had stated in the original text that the proposal made to Austria was "to occupy Bosnia and the Herzegovina."

Prince Gortchakow said that the proposal to Austria was merely to occupy Bosnia and not the Herzegovina; and his Highness explained the motive for not including the Herzegovina, was in case of occupation by the Austrian and Russian troops to place a neutral zone between the two armies, in order to prevent the possibility of any collision between them.

The explanation given of this incident by Prince Gortchakow is interesting, as I have been under the impression that the original proposal to Austria included the occupation of both Provinces.

I have, &c.,

The Earl of Derby to Lord A. Loftus.

Foreign Office,

November 3, 1876.

MY LORD,

IN reply to your telegram of the 2nd instant, I have to state to your Excellency that Her Majesty's Government have received with the greatest satisfaction the assurance which the Emperor has given to you of his anxious desire for an understanding and co-operation with England, and his solemn statement that he pledged his honour that he had no views on Constantinople nor of conquest.

You will speak in this sense both to His Imperial Majesty and Prince Gortchakow, and you will add that Her Majesty's Government will lose no time in communicating their views as to the proposed discussions and Conference.

I am, &c.

The Earl of Derby to Lord A. Loftus.

Foreign Office,

MY LORD,

November 21, 1876.

THE Russian Ambassador has called upon me and said that he is instructed by his Government to request that the report of your Excellency's conversation at Livadia, with his Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Russia, should be made public, as it contained assurances which were of a nature to tranquillize public feeling.

I informed his Excellency, in replying, that, although the production of documents of this kind relating to a negotiation actually in progress was not customary in this country, I could not, under the circumstances, hesitate to make an exception, and the Despatch in question should appear without delay. I thought its publication might be opportune, since the last few days had brought us the intelligence of the mobilisation of a considerable Russian force and of the emission of the new Russian loan for a hundred million of roubles.

I am, &c.
